Articles
Good scientific quality
Peer-reviewed by at least one expert in the field
Strictly in the scope of the journal
Written in proper English; the abstract and title present key information about the subject and include important keywords
Include various international collaborations
Longer than an abstract or a short report (3-4 pages min) - there is no maximum limit of pages
Checked in a plagiarism tool (this service is provided if you opt for our SAGA submission tool). Determining acceptable levels of plagiarism/duplication: see COPE advice on https://publicationethics.org/cope-positions#plagiarism
References
The article must contain timely, accurate and relevant references . Ensure that a set of references doesn't excessively point to the same author(s) or the same publication with the intention to artificially increase the citations of certain authors . This precaution applies to a single article or a series of articles. Our team will carry out additional checks to eliminate any risk of citation manipulation that could affect the integrity and image of the journal.
Examples for Journal articles A. Nicolas, J.-L. Barrat, J. Rottler, Effects of inertia on the steady-shear rheology of disordered solids. Phys. Rev. Lett. 116 , 058303 (2016) A. Lohrasebi, T. Koslowski, Modeling water purification by an aquaporin-inspired graphene-based nano-channel. J. Mol. Model. 25 , 280 (2019). https://doi.org/10.1007/s00894-019-4160-y
If available, author(s) must add the DOI number of the article. References must contain the full title of the cited article A maximum of 15 references per article is allowed, with only a maximum of 3 citations to proceedings articles (this rule does not apply to EPJ WOC). Please note that article exceeding this quota can be excluded from the publication by the production team.
Authors
The corresponding author should ensure that all appropriate co-authors (and no inappropriate co-authors) are included in the paper , and that all co-authors have seen and approved the final version for publication. There is no limit to the number of authors per article as long as they all fully participated in the work. Ideally, they can be requested to provide a certificate of contribution detailing how the authors contributed to the publication.

Extra care must be paid to References.

Online references will be linked to their original source via CrossRef only if they are correctly formatted. A DOI number must be joined to the reference, e.g.
Lohrasebi, T. Koslowski, Modeling water purification by an aquaporin-inspired graphene-based nano-channel. J. Mol. Model. 25, 280 (2019). <https://doi.org/10.1007/s00894-019-4160-y>

All references must be cited in the text by placing sequential numbers in brackets (for example, [1], [2, 5, 7], [8-10]). They must be numbered in the reference list in the order in which they are mentioned in the text.

This list must contain timely, accurate and relevant references. Ensure that a set of references doesn't excessively point to the same author(s) or the same publication.

A maximum of 15 references per article is allowed into the list. The same list can only contain a maximum of 3 citations to proceedings articles. Please note that article exceeding this quota will be excluded from the publication by the production team.

References must contain the full title of the cited articles.

Раздел References должен содержать минимум 12 источников. Подобрать актуальную литературу можно на сайте <https://www.sciencedirect.com/> по ключевым словам вашего исследования

References to journal articles should typically contain:

- The authors, in the form: initials of the first names followed by last name (only the first letter capitalized with full stops after the initials),
- The title of the article
- The journal title (abbreviated),
- The volume number (bold type),
- The article number or the page numbers,
- The year of publication (in brackets),
- The DOI number (digital object identifier)
